Parental Guidance Sessions

The goal of parental guidance sessions is to educate parents on various topics such as attachment, parenting styles and temperament, development of children and discipline.

The sessions can be helpful for parents seeking to build more meaningful relationships with their children and who want to improve their parenting skills. The sessions will also be relevant to parents facing the removal of their children as well as in cases of reunification where the children have already been removed from their care.

The sessions are structured and includes homework activities for each session.

Generally, 8-10 sessions are needed in order to cover the extensive range of topics.

A letter / report of attendance along with a certificate of attendance will be provided.
